Description of Our Advisory Firm

BCU Wealth Advisors, LLC is a wholly owned subsidiary of Baxter Credit Union. Advisory firm management and associated personnel remain operationally independent of credit union operations. Our advisory firm does not own or control another financial services entity. In addition, internal control assessments are periodically made to ensure such separation is consistently maintained.

Our firm had been previously registered as an investment advisor with the State of Illinois in 2012, prior to our present registration with the SEC beginning in 2015. Our firm may notice file or meet certain exemptions in other states in which we conduct advisory business. We are a fiduciary and are required to act in a client’s best interest at all times.

As of December 31, 2019, our firm had approximately $258,351,057 of reportable client assets under management through discretionary account management agreements within our wrap fee investment program.

Description of Services Offered

Our wrap fee program is designed to offer clients the opportunity to obtain professional portfolio management services through our access to both internal and institutional money managers and their investment strategies, brokerage services in support of the account, as well as financial planning, for an inclusive fee that is based upon the client’s assets under management. For certain investors, our wrap fee program will allow individual securities (such as stocks and bonds), exchange-traded funds (ETFs), mutual funds, and other pooled investments deemed appropriate or necessary, to be held within the portfolio; termed a unified managed account (UMA) and is managed by institutional investment managers with whom we may enter into an agreement to serve our clients’ portfolios.

Brokerage services are provided through the institutional services division of TD Ameritrade, Inc. (“TD Ameritrade Institutional”). Member FINRA/NFA/SIPC member.\(^1\) TD Ameritrade Institutional offers to independent investment advisors various services which may include custody of securities, trade execution, clearance and settlement of transactions, and in which our firm receives benefits from TD Ameritrade Institutional through our participation in their program offerings (see Item 9 of this brochure). Investment management services are offered by our own portfolio managers as well as a select group of institutional money managers that our firm has determined to be appropriate for various asset classes or investment strategies. BCU Wealth Advisors, LLC also provides its knowledge involving the financial planning and investment consultation aspect of the engagement.

Please note that should you determine that you only require assistance with the development of a financial plan or an investment consultation, you may be interested in our stand-alone Financial Planning and Investment Consultation services engagement which is described in further detail within our Form ADV Part 2A firm brochure that your investment advisor representative may provide you upon your request.

The firm will also ensure any material conflicts of interest are disclosed regarding our firm and its associates that could be reasonably expected to impair the rendering of unbiased and objective advice. Should you wish to engage our firm, we must first enter into a client services agreement; thereafter, discussion and analysis will be conducted to determine your financial needs, goals, holdings, etc. Depending on the scope of the engagement, we may require current copies of the following documents early in the process:

- Statements reflecting current investments in retirement and non-retirement accounts
- Information on current retirement plans and benefits provided by your employer
- Current financial specifics including W-2s or 1099s
- Insurance policies
- Tax returns
- Mortgage information
- Wills, codicils and trusts
- Completed risk profile questionnaires or other forms provided by our firm

It is important that the information and financial statements you provide is accurate. We may, but are not obligated to, verify the information you have provided, which will then be used in the financial planning or investment advisory process.

Financial Planning Services
Our planning services may be broad-based (sometimes coined “comprehensive planning” or “wealth management”) or more narrowly focused as you desire. A description of our offered services is provided in the following paragraphs. The time needed to complete these services may vary depending on the complexity of your needs and goals. You have the option to decline certain modules if you feel they are not applicable.

Cash Flow and Debt Management
We will conduct a review of your income and expenses to determine your current surplus or deficit along with advice on prioritizing how any surplus should be used or how to reduce expenses. Advice may also be provided on which debts to pay off first and any income tax ramifications. We may recommend what we believe to be an appropriate cash reserve that should be considered for emergencies and other financial goals, a review of accounts (such as money market funds) for such reserves, plus strategies to save desired amounts.

Risk Management
Our services include an analysis of your exposure to major risks that could have an adverse impact on your financial picture, such as premature death, longevity, disability, property and casualty losses, or the need for long-term care. Advice is provided on ways to minimize such risks and about weighing the costs of purchasing insurance versus the benefits of doing so and, likewise, the potential costs of not purchasing insurance (self-insuring).

Employee Benefits
We will provide review and analysis as to whether you, as an employee, are taking the maximum advantage possible in your employee benefits. If you are a business owner, we will consider and/or recommend the various benefit programs that can be structured to meet both business and personal retirement goals.
Equity Compensation Planning
We will provide a review and analysis as to whether you, as an employee, are taking the maximum advantage possible in your equity compensation/long-term incentives. This may take many forms, including options, restricted stock, performance shares and employee stock purchase plans. In addition to high-level education on this form of compensation, recommendations may include how to leverage these awards and stock ownership in relation to your tax strategy, overall net worth, and long-term financial plans.

Retirement Planning
Our retirement planning services typically include projections of your likelihood of achieving your financial goals, with financial independence usually the primary objective. For situations where projections show less than the desired results, we may make recommendations that include showing you the impact on those projections by making changes in certain variables (i.e., working longer, saving more, spending less, taking more risk with investments). If you are near retirement or already retired, advice may be given on appropriate income producing strategies to minimize the likelihood of running out of money or having to adversely alter spending during your retirement years.

Tax Planning Strategies
Advice may include ways to minimize current and future income taxes as a part of your overall financial planning picture. We may make recommendations on which type of account(s) or specific investments should be owned based in part on their “tax efficiency,” with consideration that there is always a possibility of future changes to federal, state or local tax laws and rates that may impact your situation.

Charitable Giving Strategies
Advice may include ways to minimize current and future income taxes through charitable giving as part of your overall financial planning picture and philanthropic goals. Recommendations may include approaches to consider, along with amounts based on your financial plan success rate, liquidity, and investment assets.

Education Planning
Our education planning services may include projecting the amount that will be needed to achieve college or other post-secondary education funding goals, along with advice on ways for you to save the desired amount. Recommendations as to savings strategies are included, and advice might also include the “pros-and-cons” of various college savings vehicles such as Section 529 college savings plans and any advantages to you (i.e., reduction of income taxes) of using a particular state’s Section 529 plan or prepaid savings plan or another plan (e.g., Coverdell Education Savings Accounts).

Estate Planning
We may offer an analysis of your exposure to estate taxes and your current estate plan, which may include whether you have a will, powers of attorney, trusts and other related documents. We will provide a review of your estate planning documents to determine if these conflict with the beneficiary designations on your retirement, investment, cash accounts and life insurance. We may recommend what we believe to be an appropriate update to your estate documents and/or your various beneficiary designations based on the asset distribution strategies discussed. Our advice also typically includes ways for you to minimize or avoid future estate taxes by implementing appropriate estate planning strategies such as the use of applicable trusts. We always recommend that you consult with a qualified attorney when you initiate, update, or complete estate planning activities. We may provide you with contact information for attorneys who specialize in estate planning when you wish to hire an attorney for such purposes.

Investment Consultation
Our investment consultation services may involve providing information on the types of investment vehicles available, employee stock options, investment analysis and strategies, asset allocation and portfolio design, as well as assisting you in establishing your account at our custodian.

We will assist you in preparing investing guidelines reflecting your objectives, time horizon, tolerance for risk, as well as any account constraints you may have for the portfolio. They will be designed to be specific enough to provide future guidance while allowing flexibility to work with changing market conditions.

The investment strategies and types of investments that may be recommended for your account are found in the respective investment managers brochures that we will provide to assist you in making your decision. A general overview of our model investment program is provided in Item 6 of this disclosure. In all instances involving our financial planning services component, you will retain full discretion over all implementation decisions and are free to accept or reject any recommendation we make.

Educational Workshops
We also provide complimentary educational workshops on an “as announced” basis for groups desiring general advice on investments and personal finance. Topics may include issues related to financial planning, educational and estate planning, retirement strategies, and other economic or investment topics.

Our workshops are educational in nature and do not involve the sale of insurance or investment products. Information presented will not be based on any one attendee’s need nor do we provide individualized investment advice during an event’s general session.

Portfolio Models

Strategic Allocation Portfolios
In certain scenarios, we may employ Dimensional Fund Advisors Global Allocation Portfolios. These funds offer a highly diversified, global approach that is valuable to a variety of investors. The Global Portfolios are assembled in specific combinations, with the objectives of maximizing expected return for given levels of risk and enhancing portfolio stability.

DFA Selectively Hedged Global Equity Portfolio – This Portfolio is a fund of funds that generally allocates its assets among other mutual funds managed by DFA. The portfolio seeks to achieve exposure to a broad range of securities of both US companies and non-US companies associated with countries with developed and emerging markets. The portfolio may hedge some or all foreign currency exposure by entering into foreign forward currency contracts, futures, or other derivatives. The decision to hedge the portfolio’s currency exposure with respect to a foreign market will be based on, among other things, a comparison of the respective foreign and US short-term interest rates and the portfolio’s existing exposure to a given foreign currency.

DFA Global Equity Portfolio – The Global Equity Portfolio is designed to achieve long-term capital appreciation. The portfolio generally allocates its assets to a combination of underlying US, international, and emerging markets equity funds.

DFA Global Allocation 60/40 Portfolio – The Global Allocation 60/40 Portfolio is designed to seek total return consisting of capital appreciation and current income. The portfolio, under normal market circumstances, allocates its assets to underlying funds that invest in equity and fixed income securities. Generally, the portfolio invests its assets in equity and fixed income underlying funds to achieve an allocation of approximately 40% to 80% (with a target allocation of approximately 60%) of the portfolio's assets to equity funds and 20% to 60% (with a target allocation of approximately 40%) of its assets to fixed income funds. With respect to investments in equities, the portfolio may invest its assets in US, international, and emerging markets funds.

DFA Global Allocation 25/75 Portfolio – The Global Allocation 25/75 Portfolio is designed to seek total return consistent with current income and preservation of capital with some capital appreciation. The portfolio, under normal market circumstances, allocates the majority of its assets to fixed income underlying funds, but the portfolio also invests a small portion of its assets to equity underlying funds. Generally, the portfolio invests its assets in equity and fixed income underlying funds to achieve an allocation of approximately 5% to 45% (with a target allocation of approximately 25%) of the portfolio's assets to equity funds and approximately 55% to 95% (with a target allocation of approximately 75%) of the portfolio's assets to fixed income funds. With respect to investments in equities, the portfolio may invest its assets in US, international, and emerging markets funds.

DFA Intermediate-Term Muni Bond Portfolio – The Intermediate-Term Municipal Bond Portfolio is a no-load mutual fund designed to seek to provide current income that is exempt from federal personal income taxes. The portfolio invests primarily in investment grade municipal securities, the interest on which is exempt from regular federal income tax. At least 75% of the assets of the portfolio will be invested in municipal securities that, at the time of purchase, are rated in the top three credit-rating categories. Ordinarily, the portfolio will maintain a dollar-weighted average portfolio maturity of more than three years but less than ten years. The portfolio does not currently intend to invest in securities whose interest is subject to the federal alternative minimum tax.

DFA Short-Term Muni Bond Portfolio – The Short-Term Municipal Bond Portfolio is designed to provide current income that is exempt from federal personal income taxes and to preserve investors' principal. The portfolio will invest primarily in investment grade municipal securities. As a fundamental investment policy, under normal market conditions, the portfolio will invest at least 80% of its net assets in municipal securities that pay interest exempt from federal income tax. Under normal circumstances, the portfolio will maintain a dollar-weighted average portfolio maturity of three years or less. The portfolio does not currently intend to invest in securities whose interest is subject to the federal alternative minimum tax.

DFA 20/80% Portfolio – This portfolio provides investors with an opportunity to protect wealth through a conservative, risk managed approach. With 80% of the portfolio invested in fixed income mutual funds, exposure to the stock market is limited and bond markets provide a consistent stream of income for the investor. To keep pace with inflation, the portfolio invests 20% into equity funds, which slightly raises growth potential.

DFA 40/60% Portfolio – This portfolio provides a balanced investment approach with a touch of conservative emphasis. The portfolio has a healthy exposure to the stock market, with 40% of its assets invested in domestic and international mutual funds. The portfolio is moderated by a strong bond presence. With 60% of portfolio assets in bond funds, the investor can expect a consistent stream of income and some protection from a downward stock market.

DFA 50/50% Portfolio – This portfolio aims to provide a balance between capital preservation and capital appreciation. With a 50/50% exposure to equity and fixed income mutual funds, the portfolio is designed for those who are most comfortable with a balanced approach and have an average tolerance for investment fluctuations.

DFA 60/40% Portfolio – This portfolio provides a balanced investment approach with an emphasis on growth. The portfolio aims to be more resistant to inflation, with an increased potential for growth. Its 40% bond fund presence provides income to the investor, as well as potential market downturn protection.

DFA 70/30% Portfolio – The 70/30% Portfolio provides sizeable exposure to the stock market through investments in domestic and international equity funds, with a more aggressive approach toward increasing growth. There is some exposure to fixed income funds, providing limited income generation and downside protection.

DFA 80/20% Portfolio – This portfolio provides almost complete exposure to equity funds with an aggressive approach focused on long-term capital appreciation. A small bond presence is maintained but income generation and downturn protection are limited.

DFA 100/0% Portfolio – This portfolio is the most aggressive portfolio and offers full exposure to the stock market through investments in domestic and international mutual funds. This portfolio does not contain any exposure to fixed income markets, and income generation is not a primary objective.

DFA Customized Portfolios – In certain situations we may utilize a single or small number of DFA Funds to capture exposure to a specific management style, asset class, or asset allocation that is missing or underweighted from an overall investment allocation.

Value Investing

Certain portfolios may employ the strategies of Managed Asset Portfolios, LLC (Rochester, MI based SEC registered investment advisor) whom will serve as sub-advisor for those accounts utilizing value-based investing. Managed Asset Portfolios, LLC (MAP) develops portfolios focused on a bottom-up process, and invests in temporarily out-of-favor securities that show an attractive valuation compared to the target company’s net assets and earnings power, and when there is a catalyst to unlock the intrinsic value of the company.

Balanced Strategy – The balanced strategy seeks to preserve capital while generating current income and moderate long-term capital growth. Investments are allocated between fixed income securities, combined with selected domestic and foreign stocks, and interest-bearing cash reserves depending upon market conditions. Covered call option strategies may also be employed to enhance income stream.

Global Equity Strategy – The global equity strategy seeks to generate long-term growth of capital by investing in a focused portfolio of global equities. The strategy employs no leverage and the use of derivatives is limited to opportunistically writing call options against select equity positions.
MAP Capital Preservation & Income Composite – The MAP Capital Preservation and Income composite consists of portfolios invested in securities with a focus on capital preservation, low volatility and generating current income. Investments may include, but are not limited to, money market accounts, U.S. government, municipal, corporate, and international bonds with very limited exposure to dividend paying stocks and covered call writing strategies when approved by the client.

MAP Laddered Income Composite – The MAP Laddered Income composite consists portfolios invested in securities with a focus on capital preservation, low volatility and generating current income. Investments may include investment grade corporate bonds, and to a lesser extent, money market accounts, U.S. government, municipal and international bonds. Maturities will range from less than one year to no more than five years. Junk, or high yield, bonds will also be utilized; however, only if maturities are less than three years.

MAP Customized Strategy – In certain situations we may implement a completely customized strategy for clients taking into account current securities and highly concentrated positions. Investments may include, but are not limited to, money market accounts, U.S. government, municipal, corporate, and international bonds, domestic and international equities as well as emerging market equities. The use of derivatives such as covered calls and cash secured puts may also be employed on various positions within the account, as well as margin and short-sales.

Risk-Sensitive Investing
For those investors who may have concerns about investment risk, we may recommend the portfolio management strategies of the sub-advisor Madison Asset Management, LLC (Madison, WI SEC registered investment advisor). Asset allocation portfolios are guided by their investment philosophy of "Participate and Protect,” managing risk to participate in markets when perceived risk is low and to protect capital when perceived risk is high. The philosophy reflects an expectation that investors will participate in market appreciation during bull markets and be protected during bear markets, compared with investors in portfolios holding more speculative or volatile securities. Dynamic asset allocation provides what is believed to be an optimal combination of strategic and tactical asset allocation, with the goal of delivering long-term risk-adjusted investment returns. Three investment strategies are offered through Madison Asset Management, LLC:

Alpha Advantage Strategy – Seven different portfolios designed for conservative to aggressive investors using a strategy comprised primarily of active fund managers, and may include some exchange-traded funds (ETFs), for cost efficiency and to emphasize tactical asset allocation positioning.

ETF Strategy – Seven different portfolios designed for conservative to aggressive investors using a strategy comprised primarily of exchange traded funds (ETFs) and may include up to 20% active fund managers. The ETF Strategy provides a cost-efficient broadly diversified portfolio.

Tax-Sensitive Strategy – Four different portfolios seeking to provide tax-efficient income and capital appreciation by investing primarily in municipal bond mutual funds, tax-managed mutual funds and core equity ETFs. Lower cost and turnover is expected to support the strategy's goals, but individual tax loss harvesting strategies will not be employed.

Accommodation Accounts
Accommodation accounts will be assessed 0.25% (25 basis points) for all asset levels.

Discounting Fees
For the benefit of discounting your asset-based fee, we may aggregate investment supervisory services accounts for the same individual or two or more accounts within the same family, or accounts where a family member has power of attorney over another family member’s or incompetent person’s account. Should investment objectives be substantially different for any two or more household accounts, requiring different investment approaches or operational requirements, we reserve the right to apply our fee schedule separately to each account.

For all noted forms of advisory engagements with our firm, the services to be provided to you and their specific fees will be detailed in your client services agreement. Our published fees may be discounted at the firm’s discretion but they are not negotiable.

Fee Payment
Fees are paid quarterly, in advance; generally, within 15 days of each billing cycle. The program fee is charged at inception of the account and on a prorated basis to reflect the number of days remaining in the calendar quarter.

Advisory fees are based on the market value of account assets, including accrued investment income, as of the last business day of the quarter and in accordance with the values disclosed on the statement the client receives from the custodian for the purpose of verifying the computation of the advisory fee. In the unlikely event there is not a published market value, we may seek an independent third-party opinion or a good faith determination by a qualified associate of our firm.

By signing our firm’s client services agreement, as well as the custodian account opening agreement, you will be authorizing the withdrawal of the wrap program fee from your account held at the custodian. All fees will be clearly noted on your statements that you will receive from your account custodian. The withdrawal of wrap program fees will be accomplished by the selected custodian, not by our firm, and the custodian will remit fees to each respective party for their services involving your account. Please note that you will be responsible for verifying the accuracy of the fee calculation; the custodian will not verify the accuracy for you.

Termination
Either party may terminate the engagement agreement at any time, which will typically be in writing. Should you verbally notify our firm of the termination and, if in two business days following this notification we have not received your notice in writing, we will make a written notice of the termination in our records and send you our own termination notice as a substitute. Upon termination notice our firm will not be responsible for future allocations, transactional services or investment advice. It will be necessary that we inform the custodian and any investment manager serving the account that the relationship between the firm and the client has been terminated.

If our wrap fee investment program brochure was not delivered to you at least 48 hours prior to entering into the investment advisory contract, then you have the right to terminate the engagement without fee or penalty within five business days after entering into the agreement. Should you terminate an engagement after this date, you may be assessed fees for any time or charges incurred by our firm in the preparation of your plan or investment allocation, and/or the number of days your investment account had been under our management. We will promptly return any unearned amount upon receipt of a written termination notice.

Services Purchased Separately
The total costs associated with a wrap fee program account may be more or less than separately purchasing brokerage and advisory services. The factors that bear upon the relative costs of any wrap fee program include the number of and timing of transactions, referral fees (if any), portfolio management and custody fees; regulatory, compliance and administrative charges; research costs, promotional materials, among others. These and other factors may affect the cost of obtaining these services separately from another provider.

Additional Client Fees
There are typically no sales loads, brokerage fees, mark-ups, mark-downs, spreads paid to market makers, or brokerage termination or account surrender fees associated with most of our programs.

Compensation Matters
Appropriately registered associates of BCU Wealth Advisors, LLC will receive a portion of the fee for recommending and servicing the account. Therefore, the person recommending the wrap fee program to you receives compensation as a result of your participation in the program. The amount of this compensation may be more than what would be received if you participated in other programs of the firm or paid separately for investment advice, brokerage, and/or other services. As a result, the representative that recommends the program to you has a financial incentive to recommend this investment program over other programs or services. Clients should compare costs between this program and others offered through the firm or other providers.

Item 5 – Account Requirements and Types of Clients

Account Requirements

Minimum Account Requirements
We typically require a minimum of $50,000 of investible assets through BCU Wealth Advisors, LLC to become eligible for our wrap fee program, and our UMA platform is generally only available for those accounts of at least $500,000. Certain investment managers serving the portfolio may also require a higher minimum asset size, which will be disclosed to the client prior to any selection of the manager or their strategy.

Account Opening

Participation in the program is initiated by submitting the following completed documents to the firm, typically through an investment advisor representative of our firm:

- Client Services Agreement,
- Custodian Account Application, and
- Statement of Investment Selection or similar Investment Questionnaire.

Based on these completed documents, the investment advisor representative will make the initial determination as to the client’s suitability for the wrap fee program. The firm also makes an assessment of whether to establish an account for a particular client that includes ensuring the appropriate documentation, risk tolerance and asset allocation are made.

The custodian for the account will be TD Ameritrade Institutional and they shall execute and clear all purchase and sale orders as directed. TD Ameritrade Institutional will maintain wrap fee program client account assets and will provide other custodial functions, including crediting of interest and dividends on accounts, crediting of principal on called or matured securities, and other customary functions. TD Ameritrade Institutional will also forward a confirmation of each purchase and sale directly to the client as well as BCU Wealth Advisors, LLC. Additionally, TD Ameritrade Institutional will forward monthly account statement to clients for each month in which account activity occurs, and at least quarterly regardless of account activity.

Types of Clients Served by the Firm

While our current client base tends to be individuals and high net worth individuals, we are available to provide our services to charitable organizations and foundations, businesses of various scale, as well as their pension and profit sharing plans.

Types of Clients Served within the Wrap Program

We generally offer the wrap fee program only to individuals, trusts, estates, and charitable organizations. We will include businesses and pension and profit sharing plans should their investment guidelines permit us to do so. We reserve the right to waive or reduce certain fees based on unique individual circumstances, special arrangements, or pre-existing relationships. We also reserve the right to decline services to any prospective client for any non-discriminatory reason.

Item 6 – Portfolio Manager Selection and Evaluation

Selection and Review of Portfolio Managers

We complete due diligence on each recommended investment manager to include determining whether the investment manager is registered/notice-filed (or required to be) within the jurisdiction the client resides. At least annually thereafter our due diligence review will be performed from both a compliance and performance perspective to determine that the selected investment manager remains an appropriate fit.

We also review each investment manager’s performance over an extended period of time and on a continuing basis, as well as at least quarterly to discuss any potential concerns or recommended changes to the program’s investment managers. The firm will also be responsible for determining if an investment manager should be replaced due to poor performance, regulatory or compliance matters, etc.
The benchmarks for account performance are based on each client’s responses to firm suitability information. The firm will select an investment manager felt capable to employ an appropriate investment strategy as well as develop a diversified portfolio using this strategy. BCU Wealth Advisors, LLC maintains current client profiles and may recommend adjustments to portfolios accordingly. Clients will typically receive written performance evaluation reports at least annually from our firm that have been provided to us by Black Diamond. We do not validate these reports or those provided by portfolio managers to clients and cannot attest as to whether they are calculated on a uniform and consistent basis.

Related Persons Serving as Portfolio Manager
When the wrap fee program portfolio manager is associated with BCU Wealth Advisors, LLC a conflict of interest exists since the associate and our firm may both benefit from a greater percentage of the advisory fee by not outsourcing the investment management aspect of the wrap fee program to another advisor. In light of this material matter, the firm will ensure it utilizes the same due diligence and account management selection or termination criteria for its own portfolio manager(s) that it would had an external source been engaged; in addition to further scrutiny to ensure appropriate portfolio selection, fees and other compensation meet within the account investment guidelines, firm procedures and regulatory requirements.

Advisory Services Offered within Wrap Fee Program
Please refer to Description of Services Offered in Item 4 for details involving the types of advisory services we provide within our wrap fee program, which includes financial planning services via this program. Our investment strategy and the types of investments employed are noted within Item 4 and following paragraphs/sections. Please refer to Item 4 involving restrictions you may request for your portfolio.

Performance-Based Fees and Side-By-Side Management
Our firm’s fees will not be based upon a share of capital gains or capital appreciation (growth) of any portion of managed funds, also known as performance-based fees. We do not use a performance-based fee structure because of the potential conflict of interest this type of fee structure may pose. Performance-based compensation creates an incentive for a firm to recommend an investment that may carry a higher degree of risk to a client.

Side-by-side management refers to a firm simultaneously managing accounts that do pay performance-based fees (such as a hedge fund) and those that do not; this type of arrangement, and the conflict of interest it may pose, is also not applicable to our firm’s practices.

Voting Client Securities
You may receive proxies or other solicitations directly from your custodian or transfer agent. If our firm receives correspondence relating to the voting of client securities, class action litigation, or other corporate actions, the firm will typically forward the correspondence to client address of record or return it to its originator.

We do not vote client proxies nor do we offer guidance on the voting of proxies, to include those accounts our advisory firm may serve on a discretionary basis. Wrap fee investment accounts may have proxy voting executed by an external portfolio manager or another qualified industry entity they have selected. It is important for you to ask your investment advisor representative to determine proxy voting policies of each investment manager. You may also obtain copies of their written proxy voting policies and procedures, as well as information on how proxies were voted for an account by requesting such information directly from the outside investment manager. They will not disclose proxy votes to other clients or third parties unless specifically requested, in writing, by you or your legal representative.

Should the portfolio manager not engage in proxy voting, you will be responsible for directing the manner in which proxies solicited by issuers of securities beneficially owned by you in your account shall be voted, as well as making all other elections relative to mergers, acquisitions, tender offers or other events pertaining to your investment assets.

Our firm will have no power, authority, responsibility, or obligation to take any action with regard to any claim or potential claim in any bankruptcy proceeding, class action securities litigation or other litigation or proceeding relating to securities held at any time in a client account, including, without limitation, to file proofs of claim or other documents related to such proceeding, or to investigate, initiate, supervise or monitor class action or other litigation involving client assets. Further, we do not offer guidance on these matters either. A portfolio manager may take action with regard to matters involving corporate actions. You should review their level authority involving a claim or potential claim in any bankruptcy proceeding, class action securities litigation or other litigation or proceeding relating to securities held in your wrap fee account.

Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss

Method of Analysis
We will take into consideration your current financial situation, needs, goals, objectives and tolerance for risk. Asset allocation and investment decisions are made in the firm's judgment to meet your investment objectives while attempting to minimize exposure to risk.

Our firm generally employs a fundamental analysis; evaluating economic factors including interest rates, the current state of the economy, or the future growth of an industry sector. In addition to our own research, we may draw from other sources investment strategists whom we believe best serve our clients and their accounts.

We make asset allocation and investment decisions based on the above-noted elements and any other reasonable requirements you may prescribe. We will discuss with you how, in our judgment, to meet your objectives while at the same time seeking a prudent level of risk exposure.

Investment Strategies
We recognize that each client’s needs and goals are different therefore recommended investment strategies and underlying investment vehicles may vary.

Core + Satellite Strategy
A Core + Satellite investment strategy blends passive based (or index) and active investing, where passive investments are used as the basis or “core” of a portfolio and actively-managed investments are added as “satellite” positions. With this strategy, the portfolio core holdings are indexed to potentially more efficient asset classes, while outlying selections are often limited to active holdings that are attempting to outperform a particular sector, or a selection of particular positions to increase core diversification, or to improve portfolio performance, or reduce risk during downward trends in the market and during times of uncertainty.
For example, the core of a portfolio may be built with passive based institutional mutual funds; satellite holdings would include actively managed mutual funds or separately managed accounts that have unique strategies that are believed capable of adding value beyond a stated benchmark over a full market cycle. The core may represent the majority of the total portfolio, using primarily index funds or index-based ETFs/ETNs. The remainder of the portfolio may then employ mutual funds or ETFs/ETNs that take a shorter duration to assist in the over-or-under allocation to specific sectors, regions, assets classes, etc.

Passive Investment Management
Investment managers employing this strategy generally ascribe to and construct portfolios based on the principles of the Modern Portfolio Theory which is based on the belief that proper diversification and risk management will provide an investor client with a more stable and consistent return over time. It has been statistically determined that a properly diversified portfolio, consisting of an appropriate weighting in different asset classes, will generally outperform most asset classes over time. The practice of Modern Portfolio Theory does not employ market timing nor stock selection methods of investing but rather a long term buy-and hold strategy with periodic rebalancing of the account to maintain desired risk levels.

Active Asset Management
A portfolio manager engaging in an active asset management strategy believes it is possible to create a profit from identifying or leveraging mispriced securities and producing returns greater than a stated benchmark, such as a well-known index. For example, a “large cap stock” fund manager might attempt to outperform the Standard & Poor's 500 Index by purchasing underpriced stocks or derivative instruments representing these positions.

Investment Strategy Risks
We believe an investment strategy or recommendation should be designed to produce the appropriate potential return for the given level of risk; however, we cannot guarantee that an investment objective or planning goal will be achieved. Investing in securities involves the risk of loss that you should be prepared to bear, which may include some or all of your principal. The types of risk involved are noted in the following paragraphs, and in no order of precedence:

Active Management Strategies
Should your portfolio employ active management strategies, it may, at times, outperform or underperform various benchmarks or other strategies. In an effort to meet or surpass these benchmarks, active portfolio management may require more frequent trading or “turnover” within an account. This may result in shorter holding periods, higher transactional costs and/or taxable events that will be borne by the client, thereby potentially reducing or negating certain benefits that may be derived by shorter term investing.

Company Risk
When investing in securities, there is always a certain level of company or industry-specific risk that is inherent in each company or issuer. This is also referred to as unsystematic risk and can be reduced through appropriate diversification. There is the risk that the company will perform poorly or have its value reduced based on factors specific to the company or its industry.

Core + Satellite Strategies
Strategies involving Core + Satellite investing may have the potential to be affected by “active risk” or “tracking error risk,” which might be defined as a deviation from the stated benchmark. Since the core portfolio attempts to closely replicate a stated benchmark, the source of the tracking error or deviation may come from a satellite portfolio or position, or from a “sample” or “optimized” index fund or ETF/ETN that may not as closely align the stated benchmark. In these instances, an investor may choose to reduce the weighting of a satellite holding, utilize very active satellites, or use a “replicate index” position as part of its core holdings to minimize the effects of the tracking error in relation to the overall portfolio.

Firm Research
When the firm’s research and analyses are based on commercially available software, rating services, general market and financial information, or due diligence reviews, the firm is relying on the accuracy and validity of the information or capabilities provided by selected vendors, rating services, market data, and the issuers themselves. The firm makes an effort to determine the accuracy of the information received but it cannot predict the outcome of events or actions taken or not taken, or the validity of all information it has researched or provided, which may or may not affect the advice on or investment management of an account.

Fundamental Analysis
The challenge involved in using a fundamental analysis is that information obtained may be incorrect; the analysis may not provide an accurate estimate of earnings, which may be the basis for a security’s value. If a security’s price adjusts rapidly to new information, a fundamental analysis may result in unfavorable performance.

Management Risk
An investment with a firm varies with the success and failure of its investment strategies, research, analysis and determination of its portfolio. If an investment strategy were not to produce expected returns, the value of the investment would decrease.

Market Risk
When the stock market as a whole or an industry as a whole falls, it can cause the prices of individual stocks to fall indiscriminately. This is also called systemic or systematic risk.

Passive Markets Theory
If your portfolio employs a passive, efficient markets approach, often associated with Modern Portfolio Theory, you will need to consider the potential risk that at times your broader allocation may generate lower-than-expected returns than that from a specific asset, and that the return on each type of asset is a deviation from the average return for the asset class. The variance from the “expected return” is considered to generally be lower under normal market conditions if the portfolio is made up of diverse, low or non-correlated assets.

Security-Specific Material Risks

ETF/ETN and Mutual Fund Risk
The risk of owning an ETF, ETN or mutual fund generally reflect the risks of their underlying securities. ETFs/ETNs and mutual funds may carry additional expenses based on their share of operating expenses and certain brokerage fees, which may result in the potential duplication of certain fees.

Fixed Income Risks
Various forms of fixed income instruments, such as bonds, money market funds, bond funds, and certificates of deposit, may be affected by various forms of risk, including:

- Credit Risk - The potential risk that an issuer would be unable to pay scheduled interest or repay principal at maturity, sometimes referred to as “default risk.” Credit risk may also occur when an issuer’s ability to make payments of principal and interest when due is interrupted. This may result in a negative impact on all forms of debt instruments, as well as funds or ETF share values that hold these issues. Bondholders are creditors of an issuer and have priority to assets before equity holders (i.e., stockholders) when receiving a payout from liquidation or restructuring. When defaults occur due to bankruptcy, the type of bond held will determine seniority of payment.

- Duration Risk - Duration is a measure of a bond’s volatility, expressed in years to be repaid by its internal cash flow (interest payments). Bonds with longer durations carry more risk and have higher price volatility than bonds with shorter durations.

- Interest Rate Risk - The risk that the value of the fixed income holding will decrease because of an increase in interest rates.

- Liquidity Risk - The inability to readily buy or sell an investment for a price close to the true underlying value of the asset due to a lack of buyers or sellers. While certain types of fixed income are generally liquid (i.e., bonds), there are risks which may occur such as when an issue trading on any given period does not readily support buys and sells at an efficient price. Conversely, when trading volume is high, there is also a risk of not being able to purchase a particular issue at the desired price.

- Reinvestment Risk – With declining interest rates, investors may have to reinvest interest income or principal at a lower rate.

Index Investing – ETFs/ETNs and indexed funds have the potential to be affected by “active risk” or “tracking error risk;” defined in the earlier paragraph with respect to Core + Satellite risks.

QDI Ratios – While many ETFs, ETNs and index mutual funds are known for their potential tax efficiency and higher “qualified dividend income” (QDI) percentages, there are asset classes within these investment vehicles or holding periods within that may not benefit. Shorter holding periods, as well as commodities and currencies (that may be part of an ETF/ETN or mutual fund portfolio), may be considered “non-qualified” under certain tax code provisions. We consider a holding’s QDI when tax-efficiency is an important aspect of the client’s portfolio.

Item 7 – Client Information Provided to Portfolio Managers

Information Provided to Portfolio Managers

Under this form of advisory engagement, we will gather information from you about your financial situation, investment objectives, and any reasonable restrictions you may want to impose on the management of the account. We will then provide this data to the investment manager providing support to some or all of your portfolio, and they will invest on behalf of your account in accordance with the strategies set forth in their own disclosure documents, which will be provided to you by our firm prior to your portfolio employing their strategies.

We want to note that it will remain your responsibility to promptly notify us if there is any change in your financial situation and/or investment objectives for the purpose of our reviewing, evaluating or revising previous account restrictions or firm investment recommendations. Clients are also reminded that restricting investment to particular assets or asset classes may minimize diversification and potentially increase portfolio volatility.

Please refer to Item 9 (Additional Information: Review of Accounts) about how we review your accounts, as well as how often we may provide you with wrap fee investment program information.

Discretionary Account Management
The selected investment manager assumes discretionary authority over an account. Similar to a limited power of attorney, discretionary authority allows the investment manager to implement decisions, such as the purchase or sale of a security on behalf of your account, without requiring your prior authorization for each transaction in order to meet your stated account objectives.

Should an investor prefer their wrap fee program account be managed under a non-discretionary agreement, requiring prior approval of all investment purchases and sales, the firm would not be able to serve the account under the wrap fee program and other services should be considered (i.e., such as a limited investment consultation engagement).

BCU Wealth Advisors, LLC may serve an account on a discretionary basis, however, that level of account authority does not include our individual investment advisor representatives having such trading authorization. Portfolio management only occurs at our main office.

Item 8 – Client Contact with Portfolio Managers
In certain instances, you may be able to attend general communications sessions offered a portfolio manager as well communicate with the various investment managers serving your account. When desiring to communicate with an investment manager, we would ask that you allow our firm to serve as coordinator so that we may effectively assist both parties and follow up as necessary.

Item 9 – Additional Information
Disciplinary Information
Neither BCU Wealth Advisors, LLC nor its executive management have been subject to a reportable criminal, civil, industry disciplinary event or administrative enforcement action that would negatively reflect upon our firm’s advisory business or the integrity of our firm.

Other Financial Industry Activities and Affiliations
Our policies require our firm and its associates to conduct business activities in a manner that avoids actual or potential conflicts of interest between the firm, its employees and our clients, or that may be contrary to law. We will provide disclosure to each client prior to and throughout the term of an engagement regarding any conflicts of interest which might reasonably compromise our impartiality or independence.

BCU Wealth Advisors, LLC is not registered, nor does it have an application pending to register, as a Financial Industry Regulatory Authority (FINRA) or National Futures Association (NFA) member firm.

BCU Wealth Advisors, LLC is a wholly owned subsidiary of Baxter Credit Union, a state-chartered credit union. Baxter Credit Union also offers non-deposit brokerage ad certain insurance products and services through CUSO Financial Services, LP (“CFS”), a registered broker-dealer (Member FINRA/SIPC). CFS is not legally affiliated with BCU Wealth Advisors, LLC. Certain of our firm’s associated advisory representatives are registered with CFS and this is described in detail within each associated person’s brochure supplement.

Associates may also serve in the capacity of licensed insurance agents offering annuities, life, health or long term care insurance through various unaffiliated insurance companies or agencies. An associate may therefore serve a client in one or more capacities, whether as an investment advisor representative offering investment advisory services, registered representative offering brokerage services, or as a licensed insurance agent. Our associates are required to disclose, in advance of the transaction or service, the capacity in which they are serving a client, to include the potential or actual conflict of interest the role or service to be provided may incur. At no time will there be tying between business practices and/or services; a condition where a client or prospective client would be required to accept one product or service which is conditional upon the selection of a second distinctive tied product or service.

Neither BCU Wealth Advisors, LLC, nor a member of our firm’s management, is or has a material relationship with any of the following types of entities:

- accountant or accounting firm
- lawyer or law firm
- pension consultant
- real estate broker or dealer
- sponsor or syndicator of limited partnerships
- trust company
- investment company or other pooled investment vehicle (including a mutual fund, closed-end investment company, unit investment trust, private investment company or “hedge fund,” and offshore fund).

Upon your request, you may be provided a referral to various professionals, such as an accountant or an attorney. While these referrals are based on our best information, we do not guarantee the quality or adequacy of the work provided by these referred professionals. We do not have an agreement with or receive fees from such professionals for these informal referrals, and any fees charged by these other entities for their services are separate from our advisory fee.

Recommendation or Selection of Other Investment Advisors and Conflicts of Interest

In addition to our own analysts, we engage a select group of unaffiliated institutional investment managers for our wrap fee investment program to serve as portfolio managers. These entities are required to be registered as investment advisors, and they share in a portion of the overall wrap program advisory fee assessed to an account via the custodian of record for their services (see Item 4). Beyond their reputation and investment knowledge, there are no other incentives they offer our firm that require disclosure.

Code of Ethics, Participation or Interest in Client Transactions and Personal Trading

BCU Wealth Advisors, LLC believes that its business methodologies, ethics rules, and adopted policies are appropriate to eliminate or minimize potential material conflicts of interest and to appropriately manage any material conflicts of interest that may remain. Clients should be aware that no set of rules can possibly anticipate or relieve all potential material conflicts of interest.

Our firm will disclose to advisory clients any material conflict of interest relating to the firm, its representatives, or any of its employees which could reasonably be expected to impair the rendering of unbiased and objective advice.

Code of Ethics

We have adopted a Code of Ethics that establishes policies for ethical conduct for all our personnel. Our firm accepts the obligation not only to comply with all applicable laws and regulations but also to act in an ethical and professionally responsible manner in all professional services and activities. We periodically review and amend our Code of Ethics to ensure that it remains current, and we require all firm access persons to attest to their understanding of and adherence to the Code of Ethics at least annually. Our firm will provide a copy of its Code of Ethics to any client or prospective client upon request.

Investment Recommendations Involving a Material Financial Interest and Conflicts of Interest

Neither our firm nor its associates are authorized to recommend to a client, or effect a transaction for a client, involving any security in which our firm or a “related person” (associates, their immediate family members, etc.) has a material financial interest, such as in the capacity as an underwriter, advisor to the issuer, etc.

Our associates are prohibited from borrowing from or lending to a client unless the client is an approved financial institution.

Our firm is able to provide a broad range of services to its clients, including financial planning, investment consultation, and investment management services; we may be paid a fee for some or all of these services. Due to our firm and its associate’s ability to offer two or more of these services and possibly be compensated for each aspect of the engagement, a potential conflict of interest may exist.

We therefore note that you are under no obligation to act on our recommendations and, if you elect to do so, you are under no obligation to complete them through our firm or our recommended service providers.

Firm/Personnel Purchases of Same Securities Recommended to Clients and Conflicts of Interest

The firm does not trade for its own account (e.g., proprietary trading). Related persons of the firm may buy or sell securities similar to those recommended to clients for their accounts. The firm may also make recommendations or take action with respect to investments for its clients that may differ in nature or timing from recommendations made to or actions taken for other clients or its employees. At no time will the firm or any related party receive preferential treatment over its clients. In an effort to reduce or eliminate certain conflicts of interest involving personal trading (i.e., trading ahead of client’s order, etc.)
any exceptions or trading preclearance must be approved by the Chief Compliance Officer in advance of the transaction in any related person’s account.

Review of Accounts

Schedule for Periodic Review of Client Accounts

You should contact our firm for additional reviews when making decisions about changes in your financial situation (i.e., change of employment status, retirement, receipt of a significant bonus, an inheritance, the birth of a new child, or other circumstances).

Periodic financial check-ups or reviews are recommended at least on an annual basis whenever practical. We will also periodically review reports provided to you by your investment manager and contact you at least annually to offer a review of your financial situation and objectives. We will communicate information to your investment manager as warranted and assist you in understanding and evaluating their strategies. In limited instances, you may be able to communicate with your selected investment manager.

Reviews will be conducted on a macro level by our firm’s supervisory staff, as well at the client level by your assigned investment advisor representative. Normally these reviews involve analysis and possible revision of investment strategies and investment allocations, etc.

Review of Client Accounts on Non-Periodic Basis
You are free to contact our firm for additional reviews when there are material changes that occur in your financial situation (i.e., change of employment status, receipt of a significant bonus, an inheritance, or other circumstances), or changes involving your account.

Additional reviews by your investment advisor representative and our supervisory personnel may be triggered by news or research related to a specific investment manager, holding, a change in our view of the investment merits of a holding/ investment manager, or news related to the macroeconomic climate affecting a sector or holding within that sector. Account cash levels above or below what we deem appropriate for the investment environment, given the client's stated tolerance for risk and investment objectives, may also trigger a review.

We will then communicate information to your investment manager as warranted, and in certain circumstances you may be able to communicate directly with the investment manager.

Content of Client Provided Reports and Frequency
You will receive account statements sent directly from TD Ameritrade Institutional where your investments are held. We urge you to carefully review these statements for accuracy and clarity, and to ask questions when something is not clear.

You may also receive portfolio performance reports on an intermittent or as-requested basis from Black Diamond via feeds provided by your custodian, TD Ameritrade Institutional. Clients are urged to carefully review and compare account statements they have received directly from the custodian, with any performance reports that they may receive.

Client Referrals and Other Compensation

Economic Benefit from External Sources and Potential Conflicts of Interest
We receive economic benefit from TD Ameritrade Institutional in the form of various products and services they make available to the firm and other independent investment advisors that may not be made available to a “retail investor.” There is no direct link between our firm’s participation in their program and the investment advice we may provide to our clients. These benefits may include the following products and services (provided either without cost or at a discount):

- receipt of duplicate client statements and confirmations
- research related products and tools
- access to trading desks serving our clients
- access to block trading services
- the ability to have advisory fees deducted directly from a client’s accounts (per written agreement)
- resource information related to capital markets and various investments
- access to an electronic communications networks for client order entry and account information
- access to mutual funds with no transaction fees and/or select investment managers
- discounts on marketing, research, technology, and practice management products or services
- provided to our firm by third-party providers

Some of the noted products and services made available by TD Ameritrade Institutional may benefit our advisory firm but may not directly benefit a client account, and certain research and other previously referenced services may qualify as "brokerage or research services" under Section 28(e) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. The availability of these services from TD Ameritrade Institutional benefits our firm because it does not have to produce or purchase them as long as firm clients maintain assets in accounts at TD Ameritrade Institutional. There is an appearance of a conflict of interest since our firm has an incentive to select or recommend TD Ameritrade Institutional as its custodian based on our firm’s interest in receiving these benefits rather than your interest in receiving favorable trade execution. BCU Wealth Advisors, LLC endeavors at all times to put the interests of its clients first. It is important to mention that the benefit received by our firm through participation in the custodian’s independent advisor program does not depend on the amount of brokerage transactions directed to TD Ameritrade Institutional, and the selection of TD Ameritrade Institutional as custodian of record is in the best interests of our clients since the selection is primarily supported by the scope, quality, and cost of services provided as a whole -- not just those services that benefit only our advisory firm.

Advisory Firm Payments for Client Referrals
We may enter into a solicitation relationship with other entities or persons, as may be allowed by the Investment Advisers Act and jurisdictional statute, for the purpose of referring potential clients to engage our firm for its investment strategies or advisory services. Our firm may pay these solicitors for such referrals a fixed fee or a percentage of our advisory fee not to exceed 30% of the asset-based fee that will be described within the solicitor disclosure. Clients that are referred to our firm under this arrangement do not pay more for their services than any other.

As a subsidiary of Baxter Credit Union, our firm may receive and offer referrals among our affiliates. We provide this as a service to all our firm clients and members of our organizational parent. A credit union employee may be directly or indirectly compensated by a nominal fee for these introductions; however, at no time will this compensation be derived from the advisory services clients receive from our firm unless the associate is appropriately registered or is exempt from registration.

Investment advisor representatives of our firm may hold individual membership or serve on boards or committees of professional industry associations. Generally, participation in any of these entities require membership fees to be paid, adherence to ethical guidelines, as well as in meeting experiential and educational requirements. A benefit these entities may provide to the investing public is the availability of online search tools that allow interested parties (prospective clients) to search for individual participants within a selected state or region. These passive websites may provide means for interested persons to contact a participant via electronic mail, telephone number, or other contact information, in order to interview the participating member. The public may also choose to telephone association staff to inquire about an individual within their area and would receive the same or similar information. A portion of these participant’s membership fees may be used so that their name will be listed in some or all of these entities’ websites (or other listings). Prospective clients locating our firm or one of our associates via these methods are not actively marketed by the noted associations. Clients who find us in this way do not pay more for their services than clients referred to us in another fashion, such as by another client. We do not pay these entities for prospective client referrals, nor is there a fee-sharing arrangement reflective of a solicitor engagement.

Financial Information
BCU Wealth Advisors, LLC does not have the authority to withdraw client securities from investment accounts. Our advisory fees must be withdrawn through the engagement of a qualified intermediary (e.g., your custodian), and following your written approval.
Engagements with our firm do not require that we collect fees from you of $1,200 or more for our advisory services that we have agreed to perform six months or more into the future. Neither our advisory firm nor its management serve as general partner for a partnership or trustee for a trust in which the firm’s advisory clients are either partners of the partnership or beneficiaries of the trust.

The firm and its management do not have a financial condition likely to impair our ability to meet our commitment to our clients, nor has the firm and its management been the subject of a bankruptcy petition at any time during the past 10 years.

Due to the nature of our firm’s services and operational practices, an audited balance sheet is not required nor included in this brochure.

Business Continuity Plan
Our firm maintains a business continuity plan that is integrated with the entirety of our organization to ensure we appropriately respond to events that pose a significant disruption to its operations. A statement concerning our current plan is available under separate cover.
